Conference Mission Statement

Since 1983, the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks has been involved in the war on drugs. In his year as National President, Kenneth Cantoli of Hasbrough Heights, NJ made Drug Awareness Education a priority. For the past 30 years, the NJ Elks have sponsored a Peer Leadership Conference. Our objectives are to increase participants' ability to make healthy decisions for themselves and others, specifically related to drugs and alcohol, thus Serving Our Communities.

We provide peer leaders with specific tools and resources to implement action plans in their communities, thus creating a network with the ability to educate their groups, schools, and towns on the skills presented at the conference. The conference gives participants knowledge and information that promotes wellness.

SCHEDULED CONFERENCE SPEAKERS

Matt Bellace

For over two decades, Matt Bellace, Ph.D., has been a professional speaker and stand-up comedian. His programs encourage over a hundred thousand students and adults each year to pursue natural highs (e.g. laughter, meditation) and be resilient in the face of stress. Dr. Bellace has a Ph.D. in clinical neuropsychology, which is the study of the brain and behavior. His dissertation focused on the neurological underpinnings of emotional memory.

Scott Backovich

Scott Backovich is an internationally demanded youth motivational speaker who presents to tens of thousands each year in the US and Canada. Still currently in his 20's, Scott understands that students today need to be reached in new and innovative ways. From cell phones to Twitter updates, Facebook to YouTube, teens have both grown up in and created a culture that has redefined what it means to connect. Scott understands. He has dedicated his life to connecting with and empowering students everywhere.

Gabe Salazar

Born to a teen mom and abandoned by his biological father, Gabe Salazar could have become a statistic. Instead, his energy, tenacity to succeed and enthusiasm led him to become a motivational speaker for teenagers. He had to overcome obstacles of poverty and gang influence to become the first in his family to go to college. He worked in Texas at a school as an aide with at-risk and behavioral students, and he was a church youth pastor. He soon discovered an amazing talent to inspire teens to go after the very best that life has to offer.

Sarah Wells

Sarah Wells is an Olympian in the sport of track and field and specializes in the 400m hurdles. Her Olympic journey unknowingly began when her high school teacher saw her in gym class and said, "You need to do track - I think you have what it takes." People often ask, "how did you know you could do it, become an Olympian?" And Sarah responds, "I only had that sense of belief in myself because of the incredible people around me who believed in me." Sarah has made it her purpose to show students the power of believing in yourself.

Craig Jandoli

Craig Jandoli is Vice Principal of Hawthorne High School. Craig returns to the NJ Elks Peer Leadership Conference this year to talk with students about how to recognize who they are, what their strengths are, and how to use those strengths to help others.

Nicholas Kolen

Special Agent Kolen began his career as a Special Agent with DEA in the Philadelphia division in 1991. Agent Kolen investigated numerous high level violent drug trafficking organizations while also participating in DEA's Operation Snowcap, a foreign drug laboratory eradication program. Agent Kolen travelled to South America and assisted DEA and Host National teams in locating and destroying jungle drug laboratories. Agent Kolen transferred to Colombia, South America, investigating notorious Colombian Cartels.

Breaking the Cycle of Violence

Violence affects each of us every day, but it rarely begins with knives and guns; that's just when it makes the headlines. Most of the time, violence begins with angry feelings, words, or texts. Breaking the Cycle of Violence stresses honest communication and forgiveness as an alternative to conflicts.
